CSC161 2010F Imperative Problem Solving

Class 46: Hash Tables Lab

Held: Monday, 22 November 2010

Summary: We continue our exploration of hash tables.

Related Pages:

- EBoard.
- Lab: Hash Tables..

Overview:

- Unit Tests, Revisited.
- `malloc` and `free`.
- Code Reading.
- Lab.

Unit Tests, Revisited

- Unit testing code fixed.
- More tests added!

Malloc and Free

- How do we build a new table?
- How do we build a new entry in the table?
- Both tasks require us to allocate memory.
- The `malloc` procedure allocates memory.
- Good programmers clean up after themselves. When you are done with memory, you should free it with `free`.

Code Reading

- We'll go over the basic ideas of the parts of the code for hash tables.

Lab

- Do The lab.