Computer Science 295.04: Special Topic: Thinking Beyond Grinnell - Learning From Alumni

This course challenges you to think beyond your time at Grinnell to what you may do with the knowledge, skills, personality, friendships, and more that you have developed at Grinnell. Alumni with careers related to computer science will tell their own stories so that we can learn how they constructed their lives and careers. They will also provide advice as you think about your own career and life. Readings and assignments will encourage further reflection.

Prerequisite: Second year standing.
